EX-MANAGER BANNED FROM PRIESTFIELD

Scally tells former Gillingham FC ladies' team boss 'stay away'

EXCLUSIVE

BY JON COATES

THE former manager of Gillingham Ladies Football Club has been banned from the Priestfield Stadium after being accused of berating a young referee.

Darren Keating, 41, is alleged to have chastised the 15-year-old official over his time-keeping for the under-16 match between Gillingham Girls and Chelsea Girls, while posing as a Gills FC official.

Mr Keating, who is also a qualified referee, has been banned for a minimum of a year from the League One club's premises and activities, by Gills chairman Paul Scally.

ANGRY: Paul Scally has banned Darren Keating

But he denies all the allegations and is outraged that he has been summarily punished without an investigation by the AFA and without being able to put his side of the story across.

He fears he is the victim of mistaken identity as he did not confront the young referee or question his decisions.

Mr Keating said: "I did nothing which would compromise my position as a referee and as manager of Gills ladies."

The accounts manager from Chatham says he had been watching the under-16 girls game at Cobham in Surrey on February 16 as an invited guest of Tina Mapes, the director of excellence for Gillingham Girls.

In the letter banning him from the Priestfield Stadium, Mr Scally says: "It is reported that you confronted the referee both on the pitch at half-time and in the changing room after the match, and berated him over his time-keeping for the game."

"At the time you were wearing a replica Gillingham FC tracksuit, marked with your initials, and implied you were in some way connected with the club."

He added: "The fact that the referee was left with the impression that you were connected to the club has cast a slur on the good name of Gillingham FC, which I am not

TEAM HONOUR HAYDEN

The family of Blues fan Hayden Waller have been sent a fitting tribute by Chelsea FC.

The Howard School pupil fell into a crevasse trying to save a friend on a school skiing trip to the Austrian Alps during half-term.

When Chelsea officials heard of his tragic death they were so moved that they got all the players to sign a shirt and sent it to the family home in Harty Avenue, Wigmore, before his funeral.

Hayden, 12, was laid to rest during an emotional service in Rainham attended by hundreds of family, friends and classmates on Monday.

£400,000 our loss thanks to benefit cheats

■ BY JON COATES

BENEFIT cheats drained more than £400,000 of taxpayers' money from council coffers last year.

Yourmedway last week launched a campaign to stop fraudsters taking money from your pockets which could go to the community.

We have teamed up with Medway council to expose the con-artists who plague society in a crackdown called 'Your Money - Your Loss'.

As part of the drive we are asking our readers to help root out the benefit cheats who take money they do not deserve.

Swindling

Today we can reveal that 90 offenders were caught in Medway last year after swindling more than £400,000 in benefits.

Experts say it is hard to put an exact figure on the drain of our cash as we do not know how many people are getting away with it, but that is why you have to take a stand against the cheats.

During the last year 41 people were prosecuted for benefit fraud, 46 were formally cautioned and three received administrative penalties.

The £400,000 plus conned out of your welfare system came in housing benefit, council tax benefit, income support and job seekers allowance.

The council will always prosecute offenders when there is enough evidence and typical sentences include community punishment orders - but five people were jailed for benefit fraud last year.

Duncan Warmington, Medway council's senior investigator for counterfeit and corruption, said the public need to protect their welfare system like they would the NHS.

He said: "This is their system, this is the welfare state and we should be proud of it."

"I have spent 12 months out of work before and I claimed benefits. I was very grateful for having this to fall back on."

"Unfortunately, there are a small minority who look to abuse it, so this is why it is worth defending."

"People talk about our NHS. Well, it is also their welfare system."

And the investigator issued this stark warning to the benefit cheats: "One day we will catch up with you."

• If you know a fraudster call the council's benefits investigation team on 01634 332305 or leave a message on its benefit fraud hotline on 0800 083 7049.

'Parents witnessed I didn't talk to referee'

prepared to tolerate."

Mr Scally has notified the Kent FA and the police of the ban imposed.

Mr Keating has sent a letter in response to Mr Scally and is waiting for a reply from him.

In it he says: "I have parents who witnessed that I did speak to the referee at half-time and that was only to offer him a drink."

"I did not at half-time or after the game berate him over his time-keeping, as I am for your information currently an active class 1 referee myself and have been for 12 years - and I would never have treated a fellow referee with such a lack of respect."

"I can, however, confirm to you that as the referee left the field of play, I did in front of everyone introduce myself to the referee and congratulate him on a good game."

He added: "I am concerned that despite a lack of investigation you have deemed it necessary to take such drastic action in reporting the matter to the Kent County Football Association and the police, and furthermore ban me from any event related to Gillingham Football Club."

"I am requesting that you lift this ban until the relevant investigations have been conducted and my innocence proved."

When contacted by Yourmedway Mr Scally said: "I do not know if I want to say anything more about this."

Gillingham Ladies FC play their home games at Larkfield and New Hythe ground in Larkfield and train at Anchorians Sports Ground in Gillingham.

Mr Keating stepped down as manager of the ladies team two weeks ago, saying they lack ambition to move up the leagues. He is looking to form another ladies team next year.

He referees Kent League games and was in charge of the FA Cup qualifier between Faversham and Lancing this year.

Jools on display at the castle

ROCK legends Status Quo and pianist Jools Holland will headline this year's Castle Concerts.

The line-up for the annual music event in Rochester Castle Gardens was announced yesterday.

The concerts will kick off on Wednesday July 16 with a Soul Party headlined by The Edwin Starr Band, with Brenda Edwards and The Soul Traders.

Talented musician Jools Holland, who lives in Cooling, will bring His Rhythm and Blues Orchestra to the castle for its sixth appearance on the next evening.

He will be joined by special guests Marc Almond, Gilson Lavis, Ruby Turner and Louise Marshall.

The Friday night will see the return of Status Quo, whose last appearance in 2005 sold out in days.

And for the grand finale there will be the Castle Proms on Saturday, July 19, with the Royal Philharmonic Concert Orchestra, water fountains and fireworks.

Community services councillor, Howard Doe, said: "I am very excited about this year's acts. The concerts have always been popular and I believe this year will be no different."

Tickets for the four concerts will go on sale next Wednesday (March 12) at 10am and will be available online through the Central and Brook Theatre box office, or by calling 01634 338338.

Grieving town says goodbye to Hayden

■ BY IAN READ

HERO schoolboy Hayden Waller, who died trying to save a friend, was laid to rest this week as a town united in grief.

The 12-year-old pupil at the Howard School in Rainham was killed in a tragic accident in the Austrian Alps two weeks ago.

Friends and family met up at historic St Margaret's Church to sing the praises of the cheeky little lad who touched many hearts.

Hayden plunged to his death during a school skiing trip at the resort of Mallnitz. He lost his footing trying to stop a friend from falling and fell 30ft on to rocks in a crevasse.

Hundreds packed into the church for the emotional service.

Many wore pink shirts, ties or dresses because it is the signature colour of the Make A Wish Foundation, which Hayden's parents were supporting.

His coffin was carried in by six family members after police escorted the convoy of hearses to the church.

There were flowers from family and friends, plus tributes to the football-mad youngster from Chelsea and Gillingham football clubs.

In his address, the Vicar of Rainham Canon Alan Vousden said he didn't know Hayden, but would have liked to have done.

He said the community had been shocked by the youngster's death.

"Hayden was the sort of son people would give their right arm for," the vicar said. "He could relate to people across the generations. Let's thank god for that young man."

Canon Vousden added that in his brief life Hayden had touched many people.

A succession of friends and relatives, some tearfully, told of the happy lad who had a business making cookies, who loved football and music, and loved to sing.

His aunt Nichola Little said Hayden was a noisy, adventurous lad: "You never knew what he was getting up to."

He told his cousin that only real men wore pink, because it was the new black. She said he would leave a huge gap in their lives.

Hayden's schoolfriends were given special permission to attend the funeral and the Howard School closed as a mark of respect.

Among the mourners was Gillingham FC chairman Paul Scally and manager Mark Stimson.

Shoppers in Rainham High Street were able to hear the service on loud speakers – some were openly crying.

After the service Hayden was laid to rest in a quiet corner of the churchyard watched by close family and friends.

An inquest into his death has been opened and adjourned, while both Medway council and the school are conducting their own investigations into the fatal accident.

TOUCHING: Mum Hayley and brother Aaron, along with many other mourners wore pink for Hayden. Above, dad Gary leads family members carrying the coffin from the church

NEWS IN BRIEF

Search on for the driver of hit and run Nissan

POLICE are seeking witnesses after a man was struck by a car on a pedestrian crossing outside a supermarket.

The 59-year-old man suffered a broken hip and ribs when he was hit by a white Nissan vehicle on London Road in Rainham, near the Tesco store, on January 21 at 6.25pm.

PC Steve Eriksson believes potential witnesses have not yet come forward.

He said: "I would ask anybody who might have seen the incident to contact me at Medway police station."

Police cash for young people's art centre

AN ARTS charity that helps troubled teenagers explore their creative side has received a £400 donation from police.

Workers at the New Art Centre, Chatham, said they were delighted with the funding, which would be put towards their six-week photography, sculpture and painting programme aimed at youngsters at risk of being excluded from school.

The donation was awarded by the Kent police property fund, a central pool of money made from sales of confiscated goods and distributed to worthy causes.

Pupil's digital prize latest in music technology

SIXTH form student Chris Plows scooped a state-of-the-art portable music studio during a digital demonstration from a leading software company.

The Rochester Grammar school pupil won the M-Box in a quiz set by Digidesign boffins, the company behind the award-winning equipment used by artists such as Massive Attack and Nine Inch Nails.

The Maidstone Road school is the first school worldwide to be sign up as a Digidesign partner, following the lead of a number of universities and colleges nationwide.

Police in crackdown on teen drinking escapades

LITRES of cider, lager, alco-pops and wine were seized from underage drinkers during a two-week crackdown on nuisance crime.

Officers confiscated the alcohol from 16 teenagers and arrested four people throughout the fortnight, in which patrols hit the streets to curb anti-social behaviour.

They visited 32 licensed establishments, issued an £80 fine for disorder and a warning for cannabis possession.

Nuisance motorcyclists were also targeted, with officers using 4x4 off-road vehicles and motorbikes to patrol areas known to be used for illegal racing.

Minister's high praise for regeneration site

Housing chief impressed by developments

BY SIMON ROBINSON

THE new Housing Minister Caroline Flint was taken to the top of a viewing tower on the Rochester Riverside regeneration site to see where the 2,000 proposed homes will soon stand.

The housing and planning chief, who took up the post last month, was shown the leveled 70 acre plot on Thursday morning, during a day-long visit to key redevelopment locations along the Thames Gateway.

Developments

Preparatory work on the site is now complete, paving the way for phase one of development and the first 600 homes, parks, shops, offices and cafes.

Mrs Flint said: "I came to Medway because I wanted to see for myself just what projects are happening in the Thames Gateway area and I'm really pleased to see on Rochester Riverside some developments that have already happened."

"I'm also here to see the potential of this

Picture: GLEN STROBLES

POTENTIAL: Caroline Flint said she was pleased by the developments already made at the Rochester Regeneration site over the next 12 months.

"It's been cleared and the ground's been made ready so you can really get a sense of the potential in terms of homes, job opportunities and also open spaces, which for the first time in 100 years residents in this area will be able to take advantage of."

Economic growth councillor Jane Chitty said she was stunned by the progress already made on the Rochester Riverside site.

She said: "You get a very strong idea of just how far we have come in a very short time."

"The site looks absolutely stunning and I think you can get an idea of the opportunities that come with it."

"The regeneration is introducing a new dimension to Medway in as much as we'll have new housing and facilities here."

"More importantly it brings the river into the lives of Medway residents, something they have not had the benefit of before now."

Mrs Flint was due to tour other sites in the Thames Gateway area, including Dartford and Gravesend, after leaving Rochester.

Speaking about the overall regeneration picture, she said: "I think it's really impressive. I'm not denying there are huge challenges ahead but I really think the Thames Gateway has a bright future."

"We have to do more to get the message out that there is a lot happening both in terms of housing and transport – the high-speed rail link and new trains come into force from the end of 2009 and are much faster than the ones we currently have."

"You can already see in Medway a real sense of development and I think we've just got to make sure everybody is aware of what's going on and feel they're part of it."

"We succeed when people feel it's not committees that are making the decisions, it's them in the driving seat."

'PRACTICAL LITTLE THING': Gary Wareham, Teah Smith, Jayne Berry and Karen Taylor at the awards ceremony

Teah tried to save granddad after fatal fall

A BRAVE little girl calmly tried to help her grandfather when he fell down the stairs at his home.

Teah Smith, seven, tried to make Bran Griffith, 51, comfortable at the house in Gillingham and dialled 999 for help – just as he had taught her.

Unfortunately, he had suffered fatal injuries in the fall, but the youngster has been commended by South East Coast Ambulance Trust for keeping cool in a crisis.

She was presented with a bravery certificate on Thursday by emergency operators Jayne Berry and Karen Taylor, who took her call on December 22.

Jayne said: "Teah was an amazing caller. During the call she was trying to make her grandfather comfortable and did her best in a very difficult situation."

"She was calm and very adult about the whole thing. She gave incredibly detailed directions to the house and answered all our questions."

Sadly, when clinical team leader Gary Wareham arrived on the scene a brief examination showed Mr Griffith was dead.

He said: "The incident was very distressing, but she managed to open the door and tell us her grandmother's contact details. "Although this was a tragic incident, Teah deserves recognition and commendation."

■ BY IAN READ

Teah's grandmother Nikki is proud of her granddaughter.

She said: "She knew what to do when my husband fell. We talked in the past what to do in an emergency, and being the practical little thing she is she did it all."

"As well as dialling 999, she did everything she could for him. She has a very mature head on her little shoulders and was incredibly brave."

"She is now making it her mission to make sure I'm alright every minute of the day."

Emergency operator Karen said children should be taught to dial 999 in an emergency.

She said: "A child should be taught that 999 is the emergency number and that they will need to ask for an ambulance."

"The most important thing to know is the address where the ambulance is needed."

"If you suffer from a medical condition, such as epilepsy or asthma, try to teach your child some basic information about it."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Arson attack leaves two ponies dead

TWO young boys are being sought by police after a horrific arson attack claimed the lives of two miniature ponies.

The pedigree animals, that stood a mere 27 inches tall, died after the blaze at the stables in Binney Road, Allhallows, on February 22 at 2.20pm.

Det Con Steve Goldsmith said: "We are particularly keen to speak with two boys, believed to be around 12 years old, who were seen in the field at around the time of the arson."

"Though they may have paid no part in the crime, we do think they are key witnesses."

"To allow two young ponies to burn to death is both cruel and malicious, and we are keen to arrest the person or people responsible for this heartless act."

And he added: "The owners of the ponies have been left distraught by the death of their beloved pets and if someone out there has information about this crime I would ask them to contact officers at Medway police station."

Marshes visitor project cashes in on the lottery

THE wildlife-rich North Kent marshes have been boosted with a £1.7 million lottery grant.

RSPB Cliffe Pools project manager Sarah Cooper said the funding has brought their vision of an acclaimed visitor destination at Cliffe Pools a giant step closer.

She said: "Having this flagship green space in the Thames Gateway, Europe's largest regeneration project, will be essential to give people who live and work here a quality, life-enhancing environment."

"We still need to raise more than £4 million to achieve our plans, but such a significant cash injection means a great deal."

Supermarket to tackle underage drinking

LEADING superstore Asda is set to roll out a proof-of-age scheme across 100 branches nationwide in a bid to curb underage drinking.

The Challenge 25 scheme is one of a number of initiatives unveiled by the food and drink chain, which has stores in Maidstone Road, Chatham, and Mill Way, Sittingbourne.

Asda bosses have also decided to stop selling alcohol in town centre stores between midnight and 6am, prosecute under 18s who try to buy alcohol and remove fruit flavoured shot-sized 'shooters' from sale.

A million pounds will be invested into projects aimed at reducing underage drinking.

When King John fought the barons

ROCHESTER Castle was the scene of one of the most important battles in King John's fight against rebel barons in 1215.

The siege of the imposing fortress – which finally fell when the carcasses of pigs were set on fire in a tunnel dug under one of its towers and caused an inferno which collapsed its foundations – is illustrated in a detailed model at Rochester Museum.

It shows a moment in the battle when the rebel defenders on the top of the battlements are under direct attack from a massive siege engine.

SMS service for the deaf could save lives

A NEW lifesaving service has been launched in Kent to allow deaf people to contact the emergency services.

People with hearing and speech problems can now text police, fire and ambulance services on their mobile phones, alerting them without having to face problems that could be linked to conventional methods.

Those using the SMS system will have to start their text with the word 'police', 'medic' or 'rescue', depending on which service they need, followed by the rest of their message.

The text will then be channelled to the relevant organisation and dealt with immediately.

Latest juicy gossip about Kelly Brook

MODEL and actress Kelly Brook is looking to branch out and use her orchard to produce her own apple juice.

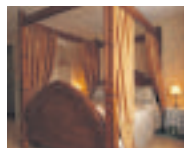

The Strictly Come Dancing star was born in Rochester, but now lives in a country house in the village of Grafty Green, near Maidstone, with Hollywood star Billy Zane.

She has sought advice from a specialist in growing organic crops in order to make use of her orchard in the grounds of her estate.

A friend of the star said: "She has this lovely orchard and has long wanted to do something positive with it rather than just see it sitting there doing nothing."

QUESTION & ANSWER

ROB SMITH

Q What is your professional background?

A I started out in radio first – I'd got the taste for it at Warwick University – and after leaving, while working for a small company in Essex calibrating hydrometers and viscometers (I really needed some cash...), I found out one of the girls in the lab was best friends with the news editor at Essex FM.

I then made sure I was at a party they were going to and kept plying him with lager until he agreed to give me a week's work experience. That was probably my best ever investment.

After being a trainee radio reporter at Essex for a year, and six months at The New Leicester Sound, I landed a job with BBC Radio Kent, reading news bulletins and reporting.

After seven good years there, which included presenting the drive-time programme, I moved over to TV.

Q What does your job entail?

A It depends which hat I'm wearing at the time. I am a reporter and presenter for BBC South East Today, the BBC's regional television news programme for Kent.

I also work as a video journalist – which means I film and edit my own pieces. There have been days when I have filmed and edited a story, and then presented the news programme as well!

The great thing about it is that I have almost complete editorial control over my stories.

Q What are your favourite aspects in terms of working in the South East?

A I love working where I live. I've been in Kent for over 12 years and have no desire to leave. I play hockey for Gillingham Anchorians and am captaining the 3rd XI this year. I keep my boat on the Medway – yacht rather than motorboat – and love getting out on the river during the week when sometimes you can be the only person out there. It is fantastically relaxing and invigorating when you have a good day. And having been around here for a while, I've gotten to know a lot of people – and people quite often recognise me, which is very nice.

Q How good is the area news-wise when compared to other parts of the country?

A We have everything here within such a compact area – right next to London, right next to the Continent – lots of farmland in the Garden of England, a huge coastline, ancient castles, and rural communities alongside built up areas like Medway. The only thing we're lacking is a Premiership football team. Once the Gills are in the top flight, I don't think you could find a better news patch anywhere.

Q What qualifications/skills are needed to get into your job?

A I have a degree in history and a postgraduate diploma in broadcast journalism – and neither are necessary to get a job as reporter or presenter in TV. The most important thing is, can you tell a story? Can you communicate with people? It doesn't matter how academically gifted you are, if you can't get the gist of a complex issue down into a comprehensible news item and tell that story in less than two minutes, then you can't do the job.

Q Is your job rewarding?

A Immensely. There are occasions when you know that by highlighting an issue on TV, it can really make a difference to people's lives.

Reports on South East Today led to a government review into hospital cleanliness – that is something that makes a real difference to thousands of people.

Q What's been the highlight in your career?

A Presenting the main programme on South East Today fulfils an ambition in its own right. As a youngster in the 70s I used to watch Nationwide and always wanted to be a newsreader on the telly. I also wanted to be the person to say "This is the Ten O'clock News from the BBC..." – and I've done that as well.

Q What have you got planned for the future?

A This summer I am hoping to sail right around the British Isles and raise money for Leukaemia Research. The plan is to get round in about three weeks and stop off in Newcastle, Aberdeen, Belfast and Plymouth on the way.

BBC South East Today presenter Rob Smith took the time to talk to Simon Robinson about his high-profile job, what makes working in Kent such a pleasure and what he likes to do in his precious spare time

Addicted to the run

Sports reporter David Pritchard spent Sunday preparing for an assault on the London Marathon next month with a 20-mile run up and down the hills of Thanet. He explains what drives him on and why, for a few hours, he'll be part of sport's elite

"MY name is David Pritchard and I am a jogger." They say admitting you have a problem is the best way to conquering your addiction, so I guess that's the first hurdle cleared.

I am coming clean because since October I have given up several evenings a week, plus most of my weekends, to running. It is all in the name of preparation for one big day out in April when I will join around 45,000 others attempting to complete the London Marathon.

The question is, why do so many otherwise apparently sane people commit themselves to six months of painful, exhausting training, all so they can run for hours on end around the capital?

Are we all mad?

The thought did cross my mind more than once on Sunday as I plodded my way round the Thanet 20-mile course with 500 others, most of whom were using it as a training race for London.

Granted it was a nice day to be outside, and the fact I had run 20 miles before some people had got out of bed did make me feel undeniably smug, but there must be better ways to see Ramsgate?

Nevertheless, as I write with limbs still aching from the exertions, I believe I have stumbled on the reason we put ourselves through all this agony.

Some good-hearted souls may do it to raise money for worthy causes, but I think for the majority – including myself – this is a positive by-product rather than the main motivation.

Instead, my theory is we do it to live out our sporting fantasies. That may sound a little odd, but stay with me, I'm going somewhere with this.

You see, while most sport-loving people grow up with dreams of scoring a cup final winner or Olympic gold, sadly for all but a chosen few, at some point we have to admit defeat and get back to reality.

However, running the marathon allows us to revive those hopes and transforms us into sporting stars for the day.

We get to run on the same course at the same time as some of the world's best athletes, cheered on by almost a million spectators, with everything beamed live across the world.

It's like having a kick-around at Wembley just after the FA Cup final, playing a round at St Andrews during golf's Open Championship, or driving your old banger around Silverstone during the British Grand Prix.

Sure we are never going to win and the only way we are likely to get on TV is if we are dressed as a deep sea diver or Marilyn Monroe (at this point I would like to make it clear I will be doing neither), but that's not the point.

In exchange for a few months' lonely slog around the streets we get to live the dream, and when you look at it like that we don't seem so mad after all.

At least that's my excuse for not kicking the habit and I'm sticking to it.

• David is attempting to raise £1,500 for Cardiac Risk in the Young by completing the London Marathon. If you would like to sponsor him you can go to www.justgiving.com/davepritchard and donate online.

NEWS IN BRIEF

'Phenomenal' response to Kent Big Day Out

THOUSANDS of free tickets to some of the county's top visitor attractions were nabbed within hours of being made available.

An incredible 11,000 of the 16,000 tickets available as part of the Kent Big Day Out event were downloaded within eight hours of the Visit Kent website going live.

But the good news is there are still tickets available for a range of destinations.

Fran Warrington, head of tourism at Kent County Council, said: "The response to our second Kent Big Day Out has been phenomenal."

"Steam train journeys and boat trips were among the first to be snapped up closely followed by many of our newer attractions such as Dickens World, Go Ape at Bedgebury and Leeds Castle, as well as our iconic destinations such as Dover Castle and Canterbury Cathedral." For further information about all the attractions taking part in the Kent Big Day Out 2008 visit www.visitkent.co.uk or call in at a visitor information centre.

New competition looks for short comedy films

BUDDING film-makers still have time to enter a new competition looking for the short comedy films.

The 2 Days Laughter competition is being run by Margate-based Beeping Bush Productions and Canterbury firm Close-Up Film.

Organisers are looking for short films or sketches, stand-up or improvised routines of no more than five minutes in length.

Entrants may take time to develop their script, but the actual shoot and edit must take place over just 48 hours.

The shortlisted films will be put before a panel of industry professionals, which includes one of UK's favourite and most prolific actresses, Ramsgate-born Brenda Blethyn.

Tory health chief backing our campaign to wipe out infection

BY JENNA PUDELEK

SHADOW Health Secretary Andrew Lansley has backed KOS Media's campaign to promote hand hygiene in hospitals and healthcare centres across Kent.

The message is simple – WASH YOUR HANDS – and help the county's hard working doctors, nurses and other healthcare professionals in their battle against superbugs.

The leading Tory came to Kent this week to view proposals for the new PFI hospital planned for Pembury near Tunbridge Wells.

Health bosses want it to be 100 per cent single rooms, which would tackle infection control problems and offer patient dignity.

He also visited Kent and Sussex Hospital in Tunbridge Wells, which saw two killer outbreaks of the superbug Clostridium difficile.

Asked whether he would back KOS Media's campaign, he said: "Yes absolutely, I think the public need to be aware that control of infection is something we can all play our part in."

He said killer bugs could live in the community and not cause problems, but when people are vulnerable and in hospital, care homes or even GP surgeries, germs can spread and patients are more susceptible to infection.

"People have to start thinking about managing infection as part of our social responsibility. We all need to be aware of the need to use alcohol gel in hospitals and in the case of C diff the need to wash your hands with soap and water," Mr Lansley said.

He added: "These airborne diseases can be minimised by people behaving well hygienically and making people increasingly aware of the need to protect others."

Deaths from the superbug C diff rose 72 per cent nationally between 2005 and 2006, figures from the Office for National Statistics revealed on Thursday.

In the South East there was an increase of 51 per cent with 292 people dying in 2005,

NEW PFI: Andrew Lansley, Greg Clark and Sir John Stanley being shown the model of the new hospital by hospital estates director Graham Goddard compared to 576 the following year.

The ONS found that the majority of deaths across the country were among elderly people.

Meanwhile, MRSA took only 34 more lives in 2006 than the previous year in South East – a pattern also reflected nationally.

The Department of Health said the increase was because of more complete reporting on death certificates and said that infection rates had since dropped.

Infection rates in trusts across Kent have improved since 2006.

NHS South East Coast, the strategic health authority for Kent, Surrey and Sussex, said figures from the Health Protection Agency at the end of last year showed a continuing decline of C diff infections since 2006.

It expects to wipe out cases of hospital acquired MRSA by 2011.

STYLE GURU: Celebrity stylist Gok Wan with New Look competition winners at Bluewater

How to look good dressed

THREE lucky ladies found out how to look great this spring with the help of celebrity stylist Gok Wan.

The star of Channel 4's How To Look Good Naked paid a visit to Bluewater on Saturday, where he transformed the fully-clothed looks of the three competition winners.

Hannah Chapman, 14, from Dartford, Emma Douglas, 36, from Nuneaton and Carole Gunning, 47, from West Kingsdown, were treated to an expert makeover by Gok himself after winning a competition run by New Look.

Shapes

He showed them which colours and shapes suited them, before dressing them each in a fantastic new outfit from New Look's spring/summer collection.

Once hair and make-up stylist Yvette Redmond had added the finishing touches, Hannah, Emma and Carole left feeling like superstars.

Gok Wan will be filming How To Look Good Naked in the Guild Hall at Bluewater on Friday (Mar 7) and Friday, April 4.

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living in Medway...

Poor state of the roads left me in a pothole of despair

IF YOU drive a car in Kent write this telephone number down right now – 08458 247 247.

In the past month I have forked out £270 to replace two perfectly good tyres after wrecking them in a pothole on one of our country roads.

Oh yes, it damaged the front suspension too. So I'd like to take this opportunity to thank publicly all you folk responsible for the roads of this fine county.

Yes, that's right, you council people who take almost £1,500 a year from me in council tax (some of which is supposed to be spent on roads) and of course to the thieves at the DVLA who rip me off for another £160 a year in road tax.

In truth I had wanted to write this piece holding Kent County Council's lazy highways' department totally to blame for my damage and tell you that a look at their website gives me absolutely no indication who I can contact when the council fails to do its job.

But I was a wrong... well at least partially. Four weeks ago I drove through what I can only describe as a bomb crater on the nearside of the road in a village.

Scared the life out of me, I can tell you, as it ripped a hole in the rear tyre.

Now, I won't bore you but it's a tyre on a big saloon and suffers from the modern car makers' trend of putting huge wheels with low profile tyres on them.

Brilliant on smooth, properly maintained roads; absolute rubbish off them.

It is no wonder that 4x4s remain popular and deserve to continue to do so, so long as our roads only match those in Poland and other former Eastern Bloc states.

The joke is that all those new EC member states are getting zillions of euros (once again paid for by us) to build brilliant new highways.

Anyway, having stumped up a staggering £130 for a new tyre I took some pictures of the crater and resolved to contact KCC and give someone a piece of my mind. But I was busy.

But when the new sound of banging from the front suspension became unbearable I booked the car into the dealer.

"Your suspension mount is damaged sir, oh yes, and there's a dangerous bulge on the inside of the front tyre," I was told.

Now I was cross for not bothering to pursue the matter immediately with the council.

In fact if you call the above number you will be put through to a nice young man who will listen to your complaint and the council will send an engineer to take a look at the road. Apparently.

You don't even have to worry about writing countless letters, you can email kenthighway-services@kent.gov.uk (write that down too). You can email them your phone pictures of the hole that has just wrecked your pride and joy.

And hopefully the council will stump up the cash for the damage it has caused by its woeful neglect of our roads.

The secret is to make sure you do complain, don't be like me and leave it too long.

As a pal of mine who works for a council said: "If people complain, we will do something about it. But compensating the few who bother to complain is cheaper than making sure the job is done properly and safely in the first place."

Remember 08458 247 247, ask for Highways.

And drive carefully.

WIN tickets to London Golf Show

IT'S one of the top dates on the golfing calendar with enthusiasts flocking to the London Golf Show.

And you could be there too next month thanks to this newspaper.

We have teamed up with organisers of the event at the ExCeL in London to offer ten readers a pair of tickets each.

Ryder Cup hero David Howell was among those at last year's London Golf Show and ExCeL London will once again open its doors to the golfing world, from April 25-27.

Howell was representing Cleveland Golf as one of the manufacturer's tour pros and the company will be returning along with fellow big brands Nike and Wilson.

All three will showcase their latest equipment on the purpose-built indoor driving range, while Cleveland and Wilson will also have their custom-fit trucks at the show, so golfers can enjoy the experience as tour professionals.

What's more, visitors stand to get even better value this year with a stunning offer on advanced tickets pricing them at two for just £15, while under-13s go free when accompanied by an adult.

And everyone coming to the show can get free entry to A Place in the Sun Live, the world's largest overseas property exhibition, which is at ExCeL at the same time – that's two tickets to two shows for just £15.

With exhibitors showing everything from equipment and fashions to golfing gadgets and the hottest holiday destinations from around the world, the 2008 London Golf Show promises to be a great day out.

We have 10 pairs of tickets to the event to giveaway.

To enter, simply answer the question below and send your entry on a postcard along with your e-mail address (if applicable), name, address, and daytime telephone number to London Golf Show Comp, KOS Media, Apple Barn, Smeeth, Ashford, Kent, TN25 6SR. TALK TIME

ANDREW STAMP

The Lib Dem councillor talks about his first year in office and the biggest challenges Medway faces.

What are your main responsibilities as a councillor?

I represent Gillingham North, which stretches from the edge of Chatham Dockyard all the way over to Grange Farm on the lower Rainham Road. My main job is to represent the 15,000 residents, take up issues on their behalf and resolve them.

Problems range from simple things like getting rubbish cleared or graffiti removed, through to complex housing issues and problems with crime and anti-social behaviour. I keep residents informed through newsletters to update them on what's happening and tell them about local services they can access.

As an opposition councillor it's also important to make sure council taxpayers' money is spent on the right services and I always highlight areas where I think money is wasted.

How have you found your first year so far?

It's been great. I get a lot of satisfaction from helping people and it's good when your work pays off. But it can be frustrating. The wheels of local government turn very slowly and you have to be patient and persistent if you want to get things done.

Most council employees are good at what they do and work hard, but they are often overstretched.

What are the biggest challenges facing the area?

In North Gillingham the list is endless! It is one of the poorest areas of Medway, which poses a lot of challenges. There's also too much building taking place in the area (new police headquarters, Mid Kent College, Black Lion redevelopment, housing on the former Alko site and at Sovereign Quarter). This creates traffic and parking problems, which are set to get worse, and many roads and pavements desperately need resurfacing. Luckily though the neighbourhood police work very hard and they are generally very effective at resolving anti-social behaviour issues in lower Gillingham.

YOUR LETTERS

Chishti still can't make up his mind

I see that Cllr Rehman Chishti is still struggling to decide on his political allegiances as he observes the primacy of the UK

Councillor was in USA forging links

Reading through the letters page in Issue No 25 of Yourmedway (February 27, 2008) led me to wonder if Cllr Teresa Murray has ever heard of the word "diplomacy", or if she is unable to ever cast party politics aside.

According to the dictionary, diplomacy is "the art or practice of conducting international relations", and Cllr Rehman Chishti certainly wasn't in America to settle his supposed "struggle to decide on his political allegiances".

Mr Chishti's role was to observe how elections are run in America – not to try and sway public opinion towards, or against, a specific candidate or party; America is, after all, a big country. Instead he saw how things worked from both sides of the fence, forging important links with American Democrats and Republicans alike.

Trying to make political gain out of such a visit strikes me as being a little bit desperate.

from Twydall, by email.

Criticism was in defence of OAPs

I would like to thank Mr Hogben

WIN tickets to The Vitality Show

ENTRY EXTENDED

THERE'S still time to enter the fabulous competition we ran last week to land one of 30 pairs of tickets and a goody bag for the Vitality Show with Muller at London's Olympia.

Europe's largest health, beauty and well-being show takes place between March 27-30.

And we are grateful to all of our readers who contacted us to point out, due to a glitch in the system, the question posed to win the tickets was omitted from our copy. Everyone who has contacted us has been entered into the prize. But those who want to enter can still do so as the closing date is now March 14.

To be in with a chance of winning, answer the question below and send your entry on a postcard along with your email address (if applicable), name, address and daytime telephone number to: Vitality Show Comp, KOS Media, Apple Barn, Smeeth, Ashford, Kent TN25 6SR.

Q. In which UK city is the Vitality Show taking place?

No purchase necessary. For full terms and conditions see www.kentnews.co.uk or call 01303 817073. If you do not wish to receive any marketing literature please write 'no literature' on your entry. For details on the show, log-on to www.thevitalityshow.co.uk.

of Strood (Yourmedway 20/02/08) for replying to my letter.

First of all, I am not displaying any anti-conservative bias and I don't think the paper is. They print letters from readers.

I am an OAP and on the committee of the Medway

Pensioners Forum. We campaign for all pensioners in Medway and are not affiliated to any political party.

I also have to watch costs and decide my priorities. We in the pensioners forum have an interest in local taxes and other costs.

Labour would do well to count costs

Good to see your note. Conservative bias no display as I might have criticised the Conservative council, but then they are the ones in power. If Labour or the Lib Dems were in power and they were not being pensioner-friendly I would criticise them too.

I do think Labour with the Lib Dems turning a £150 million surplus into a £350 million deficit is disgusting, but then they did get kicked out.

I don't personally support any of the three major parties because they don't listen to us.

They seem to be in power for themselves, both nationally and locally. If they stopped squandering our money and cut out the waste they wouldn't have to hit the vulnerable pensioners and cut essential services.

If Mr Hogben or any other Medway pensioner would like more details about the Medway Pensioners Forum they can write to me at 5a New Road Avenue, Chatham, ME4 6BG or visit www.medwaypensioners.co.uk

Why wind power
leaves me cold

Your mystery contributor who wrote last week's blogger has

Conservation is the key to success

Bill Hyde's got it wrong again. The cheapest and quickest way to meet energy needs is to save energy.

No one has ever suggested depending on wind power alone, but it has the largest potential of any of the available options and at half the price of nuclear power. And wind power does not involve huge decommissioning or radioactive waste storage costs.

Since we have the best wind resources in Europe, the UK will benefit from further offshore wind farms – including those planned to add to the existing Kentish Flats wind farm operating off Whitstable.

Bill's idea of returning to fast breeder reactors for our electricity is extraordinary. The British Fast Breeder Reactor programme's Dounreay power station was shut in the 1990s having been found too expensive and unreliable to run.

The best electricity production it ever managed was just 18 per cent of its intended capacity. It was a terrible waste of money.

Bill also falsely claims renewables cannot meet demand for energy. In particular, that renewables cannot meet base load or peak demand.

Late last year, a German economics ministry experiment showed that distributed power can indeed produce reliable base load in a secure and reliable manner.

Thirty-six decentralised renewable plants – a mix of biogas, wind, solar (photovoltaics, or PV) and hydropower – were linked by three companies and a university in a nationwide network controlled by a central computer. This demonstrates that new coal or nuclear power stations can be avoided, if a strong commitment to implementing renewable energy is made.

According to Bill's claims, Austria should not be able to meet 78 per cent of its electricity demand from renewables, but it does; Iceland should not be meeting 76 per cent of its total energy demand from renewables, but it does.

What has been done elsewhere in Europe can be done here. It is a matter of political will since the technological obstacles Bill alleges do not exist.

Payment options are not easy for us all

A number of high street retailers have recently announced they will no longer offer their customers the opportunity to pay by cheque.

Whilst the slow death of cheques is probably inevitable, older people remain more likely than other age groups to continue to use cheques as a means of payment.

The truth is that some older consumers in Maidstone may already be struggling with the many changes in the way we manage money, such as the introduction of chip and pin cards, and this represents another challenge.

More than nine in ten older people have told us that more should be done to help vulnerable older people deal with the changes in the way society uses money.

As a charity we provide advice to older people across the country on exactly these issues through our Your Money Matters programme, run in partnership with Barclays.

The projects are aimed at improving the skills, confidence and financial situation of older people by providing basic money management and debt advice.

We would recommend older readers consider asking their bank or building society for a chip and pin, or a chip and signature card.

For those who find it difficult to use a PIN, the chip and signature card is a better option. All retailers should offer the facility to use this type of card.

Keeping school truancy levels low

ABSENTEEISM in Medway is below the regional and national average at 6.12 per cent.

That figure jumps to 6.29 per cent when looking at the South East and 6.43 per cent in England as a whole.

The number of youngsters persistently playing truant was also beneath the regional and national average at just 3.5 per cent. However, this figure still means more than 1,250 pupils are regularly missing school.

Medway council spokesman Stephen Hannington said: "Absences in Medway schools are lower than last year and below the national and regional averages, which is good news not only for the authority, but especially for pupils and schools in Medway."

"Family holidays in term time can have more of an effect than parents realise. Two weeks off in each school year for 12 years is equal to missing two full terms of education, which will have a negative impact on children's success at school and seriously affect their future."

"All schools have an allocated education welfare officer to monitor pupils who are causing concern due to absences."

"If all else fails, penalty notices are issued and court action is taken when parents fail to ensure acceptable attendance of their children."

It's the right option

EVERYTHING you need to know about education options across Kent will be contained in a major new supplement published this weekend.

Education in Kent will be available in our sister title – Kent on Sunday – and made accessible online for easy, free, download via our website, www.yourmedway.co.uk.

The guide covers all ages of education from nursery to adult.

Medway fails to reach the national average

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

SCHOOLS in Medway recorded their fourth year-on-year improvements in Key Stage three results – but still remain below the national average.

Three quarters of 14-year-olds in Medway attained level five in English, up one per cent on the national figure of 74 per cent.

The same number of pupils reached the same level in maths, one per cent below the average across the country for the SATs.

Only 71 per cent of Medway youngsters hit level five in science, down two per cent on the 73 per cent national result.

Rainham Mark and Rochester Girls Grammar schools proved the top individual performers, achieving average point scores of 42.7 and 42.6 respectively – well up on the England average of 34.9.

Progress between key stage two and three was measured at 100.2, also above the national figure.

Learning and achievement boss Simon Trotter said: "Medway is making progress at Key Stage three."

"Our results are above the national average in English, and following the trend in maths and science."

"The Contextual Value Added is a measure of the progress children make, taking into account factors like economic deprivation."

"The score for Medway is above the national figure at 100.2. Most of our schools have a satisfactory or better CVA rating."

"Our Key Stage three pupils now have a very successful foundation to build on as they move on to start GCSE and other studies at Key Stage four."

TESTING: Only 71 per cent of Medway youngsters hit level five in science down two per cent below country average

"The progress we've made over the past few years has been a result of a real team effort. It's a winning partnership between pupils, teachers, and parents."

Schools Minister Jim Knight said: "The KS3 results give a good indication of how pupils will achieve at GCSE and I am impatient to see more progress made and see more pupils reach the levels expected for 14 year olds."

"To help this happen in Key Stage 3 maths from this September there will be new innovative Key Stage 3 mathematics lesson materials available for schools."

"The new curriculum will allow greater flexibility, we have increased the teacher training bursary for maths teachers to £9,000, we have established a "National Centre for Excellence in the Teaching of Mathematics and the Secondary National Strategy provides continuing professional development for teachers of maths focused on raising pupils' attainment."

Acoustic performance awaits you on the ether

■ BY GARETH ARNOLD

WITH heartfelt lyrics and intricate guitar work, do-it-yourself singer-songwriter Jon Woode has created quite a stir from his garden shed.

Loosely described as folk, Woode's varied style has invited comparisons with Nick Drake, receiving rave reviews for his latest album Into The Wildness.

The Ether – our broadband TV channel www.yourkenttv.co.uk's new showcase for the county's musical talent – this week features two songs performed by the acoustic artist.

He said: "I found it hard trying to pigeon-hole myself into a few genres when I will probably not stick to them. I write in whatever style or genre I have running through me at that particular moment."

"I don't like the idea of being restricted in creativity, I don't set out to write a song in a certain style, I just write it as it comes. I love the old-fashioned sounds, songs and recordings and also love to hear the new. I am not a lover of highly produced music and only wish to record the true music that I create."

Despite using a bespoke Atkin guitar, hand-built by Canterbury luthier Alistair Atkin, Woode makes a point of using simple recording techniques to maintain a raw edge.

He said: "I am not really into the over-produced sounds that flood our air waves. My first album was just a diary of songs, first takes recorded by me on a Tascam Pocket Studio 5 using only the built-in mic. I have moved on since then, but not far. I now have a Tascam eight-track and a nice Rode K2 mic."

"Although the equipment is a lot better than it was, it is still very basic and the studio I've built in my garden has no sound-proofing and is shared with my wife's easel and paintings.

"Hopefully this will all go towards capturing a sound that is a realistic version of what I do and will be an album I'm happy to put out."

Woode performs live at various festivals and acoustic nights around the county, with notable appearances at Lounge On The Farm near Canterbury, and the city's muso-haven Orange Street Music Club. As well as formal gigs, he also enjoys the odd appearance at open mic nights, including the renowned sessions at The Barge in Gillingham.

His love of folk music stemmed from five years spent in north Cornwall, where he lived and performed prior to moving to Kent.

Woode is currently working on his new album, Fields Of The Senses, which is expected in the summer.

Faye steps into the shoes of Eva

Former pop star brings the extraordinary story of American singer to life on stage

THE magical talent of tragic star Eva Cassidy is the subject of acclaimed musical Over The Rainbow.

Starring Faye Tozer, formerly of chart-topping pop group Steps, it explores the extraordinary story of the American singer who became a huge star only after her early death. The play features 27 of Cassidy's best-loved songs, including her signature tune about hope and life in a mystical land.

Born in February 1963, Cassidy was surrounded by music from the very start. Her father Hugh was a big fan of artists like Pete Seeger, Buffy St Marie and Ray Charles, infusing his daughter with a love of music and singing. He taught her to play the guitar and she was soon able to accompany herself and her three siblings, Anette, Margret and Dan.

As a teenager she sang with local bands in the Washington area and spent a summer playing guitar at a theme park. While pursuing her love of music, she also became an accomplished artist and created paintings, sculptures and jewellery.

In 1986 she met Chris Biondo, who would help her find work as a session singer, becoming both her mentor and her boyfriend.

Her first commercial recording was made with Chuck Brown, who met her through Biondo. Originally he wanted her to record one duet for inclusion on his next album, but the pair ended up

OVER THE RAINBOW

Friday, March 14, and Saturday, March 15
Granville Theatre, Ramsgate

releasing an entire album of duets.

Over the next few years Cassidy became a popular performer in Washington, winning a number of awards for her fantastic interpretations of popular songs.

She eventually released a live album, recorded at the city's Blues Alley, but remained virtually unknown outside her home town.

In July 1996 she noticed an ache in her hips and was diagnosed with melanoma. Despite having treatment, she died at the family home on November 2 at the age of 33.

Six months later, a compilation of her recordings was released as the CD Songbird. It remained in relative obscurity for two years until Terry Wogan played two of her tracks on his BBC Radio 2 show following a recommendation from his producer.

The reaction to Cassidy's versions of Somewhere Over The Rainbow and Fields Of Gold was immediate, with a camcorder video of her singing live at Blues Alley being shown on the BBC show Top of the Pops 2.

Songbird climbed to the top of the UK album charts and since then her posthumously-released recordings have sold some six million copies.

This poignant and moving musical has been a hit all over the UK and Ireland, as well as winning Best Production Of The Year in Holland. Led by Tozer, the talented cast of West End performers celebrates the life and work of an unforgettable artist.

To book tickets, phone the box office on 01843 591750. For more details, visit the website at www.granvilletheatre.com.

MOLL FLANDERS

Thursday March 6
to Saturday, March 8
Central Theatre, Chatham

WITNESS a world premiere in Chatham this week as a brand new adaptation of Moll Flanders makes its debut.

Daniel Defoe's classic novel about the debauchery of 17th century England is the subject of a new interpretation by Brute Farce Theatre Company. With plenty of satire and modern mayhem, the company uses a minimal set and lots of imagination to bring the tale of incest, bigamy and crime to life.

Born to a London convict who is transported to America, young Moll embarks on a lifetime of lies, thievery and saucy behaviour as she attempts to secure a wealthy husband and financial security. But as she continually encounters men who are just as loose with the truth as Moll, will she ever find the stable and happy home she craves?

On Thursday there will be a 'talk back' night, when the audience can meet the people behind the production for an informal question and answer session.

Performances start at 7.30pm and tickets cost £16/£14. Moll Flanders is the first play in the three-play aCT now! series. Book for all three and each ticket will cost just £9.

Cruising tour is ice cool

BY LOUISE CAHILL

YOU might not imagine celebrated Italian film director Federico Fellini to be automatically associated with cruising – but the presence of the great man looms large on the giant 85,000-tonne Costa Atlantica superliner.

Our cabin was on Deck Eight And A Half, named after one of Fellini's most famous films. The deck directly below, Ginger and Fred, recalled a Fellini TV movie and other deck names inspired by his movies include La Strada, Roma and La Dolce Vita.

Once on board, the link begins to make sense, for the bold interior design of Costa Atlantica blends classical Italy with more contemporary ideas. The lobby space, spanning eight decks, feels a bit like a cathedral at sea.

The other eye-catching feature about Costa, which really moved into mainstream cruising when the founding Italian family sold out to Carnival and Airtours (the UK operator no longer with us) back in 1997, is the prices.

While Costa has dramatically upgraded the quality of its fleet, value for money remains a strong point and some of its cruise-only prices come in under £100 per day. Money saved is often splashed out on luxury spa facilities which are another Costa hallmark.

For our voyage to the Norwegian Fjords, we found our own way to Amsterdam as an overnight stay in this delightful Dutch city made the ideal curtain-raiser to our voyage.

WINTER WONDERLAND: Stunning water features are mixed in with volcanic landscapes and snow

Ahead of us lay some ports with a rich nautical history – Bergen, Hellesylt, Geiranger, Alesund in Norway; Torshavn on the Faroes, Akureyri and Reykjavik in Iceland, even the remote Scottish ports of Lerwick and Invergordon – before Amsterdam again.

Although Costa claims to promote 'Cruising Italian Style', its passengers are drawn mainly from Western Europe. English is quite rarely heard and often squeezed out by Italians, Spaniards, French and Germans.

Although cabin space on board Costa

Atlantica isn't vast, no fewer than 620 of its 999 cabins have private balconies. Dotted around a dozen decks, you'll also find three restaurants, 12 bars, a three-deck theatre, casino, disco and more. Not to mention three swimming pools (one with a retractable roof), a water-chute and four jacuzzis.

The itinerary was fascinating and included gorgeous Geiranger and a tour to the top of Mount Dalsnibba: the midnight sun was another attraction.

Despite her vast size, Atlantica navigated her way through some tight twists and turns in locations only usually heard of on weather warnings: Bailey, South East Iceland, Fair Isle and Faroes.

The volcanic basalt of the Faroe Islands is thought to be 60 million years old. We docked at Torshavn, supposedly named after Thor, the Norse god of thunder.

The skies were certainly not something we were used to. During summer, it's traditional for the Faroese to climb a 2,500m mountain to experience sunset and sunrise with just an hour in between.

Iceland, first colonised by Irish monks in 870AD, is a joy of glacial activity, volcanoes and memories of Viking sagas. We were then thrilled by Dimmuborgir with its lava formations, followed by the geothermal field of hot springs at Hverir with its belching mud pools.

The price was worth it just for the sky near Surtsey, a volcanic island and the southernmost point of Iceland. Photographing the striped red and yellow display, I lingered on our balcony – it would have been an insult to the sky to sleep.

YOUR TV REVIEW

BY TOM BETTS

LIFE IN COLD BLOOD
BBC1, 9pm, Monday
THE PALACE
ITV1, 9pm, Monday

THERE are some things in life that really can make your jaw hit the floor.

Images of deep space taken from the Hubble Space Telescope and, more amazingly, my pal Pete who last week managed to form a coherent sentence after necking more than ten pints of Stella Artois.

But, until you've seen a snake swallow an antelope whole, tearing its skin apart in the process, these things tend to pale into insignificance.

I refer to David Attenborough's triumphant return (isn't it always?) with the brilliant, Life in Cold Blood.

Last Monday, we encountered the snake in its many forms as the show managed the impossible, to make us feel sympathetic for one of the world's most reviled species.

Educational, visually stunning and surprisingly, for a programme about reptiles, occasionally touching.

At 81, and with more enthusiasm for his subject than a man half his age, Attenborough is still the consummate wildlife presenter. The whispering voice of amazement and authority.

Yet, despite all the accolades, never does he encroach on the true stars of the show, the animals themselves and even the crew get a look-in with a 10-minute slot that shows how they set about capturing such fine footage.

Making the blood run cold, but in an entirely different manner, is ITV1's The Palace.

Just rattling the old thumb along the remote at 9pm is a truly chilling experience. For here is a show that makes you actually glad that the commercial break exists.

CLASS: Sir David Attenborough knows his stuff

This right royal rubbish must be manna from heaven for the BBC as Attenborough and co have been trumping the ITV effort by more than two million viewers on Mondays.

The first episode held a certain curiosity...

The King had died unexpectedly and the next in line to the throne was to grudgingly step forward to do his duty.

For a moment it was all quite exciting, well, until we found out the heir to the throne was little more than a sulking, catalogue model with a fine line of neatly pressed shirts and sticky-out pocket handkerchief things.

Yes, it was a bit of a let down, from which this jumped up Dallas-lite nonsense never really recovered.

Still, I suppose it could be worse; the next night Hotel Babylon was on.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21-Feb 19)

YOU'RE ready to fight for your rights. Someone who has repeatedly tried to undermine you is in for a big surprise. A loud confrontation will expose them for the bully they really are. A friend may betray you this week. Perhaps they're uncomfortable with what you're doing.

IT'S time to spread the word about your accomplishments, even though you're a pretty humble person. If you don't show off your talents, you could be passed over for the perfect job. You've been blessed with incredible talent, but you've also got to sell yourself to the public.

YOU know what you want and you're going to go for it big time. Developing a creative project is another possibility. You're bound to hit some snags along the way, but the final result will be breathtaking. Don't let people put you off, they don't know how determined you can be.

ON GENERAL RELEASE

MARGOT AT THE WEDDING (15)

Margot Zeller is a bright, razor-tongued short story-writer who creates chaos wherever she goes. She makes a surprise journey to the wedding of her free-spirited sister Pauline, but from the moment she meets Pauline's fiancé, Margot starts to plant seeds of doubt about the union.

UNTRACEABLE (18)

Within the FBI there's a division dedicated to investigating and prosecuting criminals on the internet. There, Special Agent Jennifer Marsh has seen it all... until now. A tech-savvy internet predator is displaying his graphic murders on his own website – and the fate of each of his tormented captives is left in the hands of the public: the more hits his site gets, the faster his victims die.

SEMI-PRO (15)

This outrageous comedy is set in 1976 against the backdrop of the maverick ABA – a fast-paced, wild and crazy basketball league that rivalled the NBA. Will Ferrell plays Jackie Moon, a one-hit wonder who used the profits from his chart-topping song to achieve his dream of owning a basketball team. But Moon's franchise is in danger of folding when the ABA announces plans to merge with the NBA. If they want to survive, they must do the seemingly impossible – win.

Uma finds her romantic side

■ BY KATE HODAL

FOR most women, finding and settling down with your one true love can be a soul-searching, life-long activity that you only hope ends in success.

But for Uma Thurman in her latest movie role, finding a husband is a bit like catching a bus: you spend forever waiting for the right one to show up, and then two arrive at once.

The Accidental Husband, Uma's latest foray into the world of rom-com, sees the 6ft beauty playing Dr Emma Lloyd, a pragmatic but uptight radio relationship expert and talk-show host who's engaged to the affable and ever-so-English Michael (Colin Firth) when she discovers that – on paper – she's already betrothed to some guy named Patrick.

While the so-called 'love doctor' might spend her days dispensing advice to the lonely and bewildered women of New York, when it comes to knowing what real love is, she does not have a clue.

After carelessly advising one caller to ditch her hubby-to-be, Emma finds herself the victim of a spurned and hot-headed fireman (played by Grey's Anatomy star Jeffrey Dean Morgan), who decides the only way to cure his broken heart is to hack into city records and make Emma already married – to him.

"Emma is at the height of her career and she's about to be married to a great guy," explains Uma, looking gorgeous in a black suit and plunging gold top for the London premiere of the film (which she rode to in a London fire engine).

"She thinks she has it all and then this 'accidental husband' comes in and wrecks everything. I just love the vulnerability of someone who thinks she knows everything and then gets taught the lesson of her life. And I could completely relate to her: super successful, sure of herself in practically every way, and clueless at the same time."

Uma spent the last 10 years developing this film, which she also produced, after finding that all the roles she was being offered were a bit ditzy (think The Truth About Cats and Dogs), a bit serious (remember Dangerous Liaisons?), or a bit too active (try Kill Bill).

"I loved everything about this script, from the title, to the set-up of the plot, to the dialogue. I saw it as the perfect way to express my sense of humour and I thought: I can do this – I'll just cast myself"

Uma's own love life has been in and out of the newspapers after her six-year marriage to her Gattaca co-star Ethan Hawke, with whom she has two children – Maya Ray, 9, and Levon

LOVE DOCTOR: Uma Thurman is back in rom-com role

Roan, 6, ended in 2004. Since then she's been linked to New York hotelier Andre Balazs and is now rumoured to be engaged to Elle Macpherson's former partner, French financier Arpad Busson.

While she may have felt some affinity with the romantic but confused 'love doctor', Uma downplays the importance of advice and finds it more important to make decisions for yourself.

"I don't think anyone takes advice," she says, sporting a mysterious blue-stoned ring on her wedding finger. "Everyone just needs to talk about their issues. They don't actually ever want to take advice, but it's a great launching point for gossip."

PROPERTY NEWS

Remortgage figures on the increase

ABOUT half of all mortgage activity last month resulted from home-owners seeking remortgages, it has emerged following recent studies.

The figures will fuel concern of a slowdown in the housing market, particularly among first-time buyers.

Figures from the British Bankers' Association, drawing on data from all major UK banks, show an increase in both new mortgage approvals and remortgaging.

The study is the most extensive of its kind undertaken and widely regarded as a barometer for the housing market.

There was a 17 per cent rise in remortgages, with 79,016 home-owners refinancing their properties.

Remortgage activity now makes up 49 per cent of all activity, the highest proportion since the BBA began collecting data in 1997.

But mortgage approvals were still up on the month before, rising to 44,288.

BBA director of statistics David Dooks said: "Higher gross mortgage lending in January largely reflected very strong remortgaging activity, as borrowers sought out the best deals available."

France and Spain lose out to Austria

AUSTRIA is gaining prominence as a destination for a second home because properties are often cheaper and easier to buy than in other European countries.

The central European state is gaining ground at the expense of more traditional areas such as France and Spain.

Also surging ahead in popularity are the emerging eastern European destinations of Latvia, Estonia, Lithuania and Slovenia.

Experts say the Austrian property market is experiencing a change as it moves away from providing for holiday-makers and enters the second-home market. Prices in the country have remained stable in recent years and the number of homes changing hands each year is relatively low.

However, new EU regulations have made mortgages more readily available, encouraging buyers from abroad.

Property prices in Austria are now rising at between six and seven per cent a year and the country has been included in the list of 20 best locations to secure positive returns by the BBC's A Place In The Sun show.

Now's the time to snap up a bargain

■ BY NICK AMES

WHILE much of the UK recorded a monthly fall in new home prices in January, conditions could be ideal for bargain hunters.

According to property specialist Smart NewHomes.com, developer incentives and competitive prices mean now is an ideal time for new home buyers to secure a bargain ahead of anticipated price rises in the spring.

The South East and London remain the most expensive areas in which to buy, but property in Scotland is also increasing in value ahead of the rest of the country.

The new homes market typically suffers from a slow start to the year and the 0.5 per cent fall in average prices recorded in January is no cause for alarm, say experts.

However, while average prices over the last quarter have flattened, they are expected to pick up as more buyers return to the market with renewed confidence – fuelled by interest rate cuts expected over the coming months.

David Bexon, of SmartNewHomes.com, said: "Despite a slow start to the year, prices are likely to pick up as buyer confidence returns, fuelled in part by a series of further interest rate cuts which I would expect to see as early as March. However, the current dip in prices across the new homes market makes now an excellent time to buy."

Other experts do not share the optimism. Capital Economics, the consultancy led by one of the City's leading economists, Roger Bootle, has long been predicting that the UK house price boom will come to an end.

This past year, studies indicated that prices would rise by only 3.5 per cent, and as it turns out, they could be on target. But citing a slowing economy, expensive prices, stricter lending and more mortgage defaults, Capital Economics has revised predictions for 2008.

The consultancy's Ed Stansfield said: "We expect house prices to fall 5 per cent next year and a further 8 per cent in 2009, wiping out the gains of the last 18 months."

"The long-overdue housing market correction now appears to be under way."

BUYING: Mixed opinion on house prices sees some experts suggesting now is the time to buy, others are more cautious

Jodi's Great Wall charity challenge

SERIOUS illness in her family sparked a charity challenge for Lipscomb sales administrator Jodi Sexton.

Based at the motor group's Chartham, Canterbury site, Jodi is raising funds for Children with Leukaemia by joining the Beijing Olympics Trek Open Challenge in August, trekking the Great Wall route in temperatures of 27-32 C.

Jodi's cousin Andrew was diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukaemia, which is why she chose the charity. Jodi is funding the trip herself so that all sponsorship goes to the charity. Pledges can be made via Jodi at Lipscomb at 0845 338 9902 or at www.Bmycharity.com/jodischinatrek.

Skoda draws green line

SKODA has launched a version of its all-new Fabia supermini officially capable of averaging around 70mpg.

Kent commuters to London by road will also like the fact that CO2 emissions of just 109g/km of CO2 exempt it from the capital's congestion charge.

The 1.4 TDI Fabia GreenLine – £11,490 and £12,140 in hatch and estate form respectively – achieves this miserly feat through aerodynamic panels fitted beneath the chassis, replacement of the spare tyre with a puncture repair kit and raising the front bumper by 35mm.

Lexus V8 is gunning for its German rivals

LEXUS wants to inject a more potent image into its Lexus IS compact executive saloon series, which tends to be overshadowed by German rivals.

Toyota's luxury arm has unveiled a potent V8 version due here in April and dubbed the IS-F in a clear effort to attack the BMW M3, Mercedes C55 AMG and Audi S4 performance flagships. Apart from a pronounced V8 'burburle' the car will stand out with distinctive styling such as double vertically stacked twin exhausts.

POWERFUL: The VXR is certainly a muscular beast, but whether or not the boy racers it will appeal to can afford it is another matter entirely

STAR QUALITY

Driving appeal	★★★★★

Running costs	★★★★★

Green rating	★★★★★

IS the Corsa VXR a muscular athlete or muscle-bound lout?

A pumped-up bodykit and fat alloys suggest the latter, but a spell behind the wheel argues the former.

But is the question irrelevant when most of the turbocharged pocket rocket's fans are too young to afford to buy, run and insure it?

It might be a small hatchback, but it costs £15,625; enthusiastic use of its 189bhp and 0-60mph in less than seven seconds decimates the official 35.8mpg average; and the insurance is group 16.

Those who actually can afford to run such a car are likely to prefer something more grown-up or wearing a classier or trendier badge.

On the other hand, is it that the car's really a 'halo model' drawing attention to the overall Corsa line-up and especially, the cheaper and more civilized yet still racy Corsa SRi with VXR accoutrements?

Probably, but the VXR still deserves judgement on its own merits. It certainly looks the part with showy alloys and body kit, although the dumpy rear looks like a crouching sumo wrestler with its wheel arch vents and diffuser. The interior is smart thanks to alloy highlights and fabulous Recaro front seats – these might not give much, but the contoured comfort is startling.

Climb past the Recaros – their wide shoulders make this harder than standard Corsa seats – and you also have enough rear space to imagine some young dads persuading 'er indoors that it really is a "good motor for the family, luv".

Couple this with decent ride quality and cruising refinement and the VXR is a hot hatchback that you really can live with on a long journey, yet it also 'walks the talk' to go with its looks.

The car has tenacious grip without unnecessarily hard suspension, plus good steering feedback and a tidy flat cornering stance.

The impressive engine power also feeds efficiently to the road without the steering wheel fight of the bigger Astra VXR, and links well with a well-spaced and slick six-speed gearbox.

Pumped up it might be, but the Corsa VXR is no lout.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

FORD FOCUS ESTATE

FORD'S estate spin-off from the original futuristic Focus design was not the most convincing looker, but proved to be an effective load lugger with all the driving virtues of its sister. Secondhand bargain hunters will find plenty of engine and trim choice at affordable prices – many companies bought these to put reps and their samples on the road – but check for high mileage and abuse. If you can afford them, Focus Mk II estates make more elegant used buys.

VAUXHALL MERIVA

IT has not enjoyed the new car sales success of its Zafira big brother, but used car buyers know the value of the Corsa-based Vauxhall Meriva. It's compact yet still has a higher driving position; it is also tall and capacious yet handles with car-like sure-footedness. Mix in a good range of engines and trim – including a scorching VXR version – and you start to see why this flexible five-door MPV is sought after on the used market.

CITROEN BERLINGO MULTISPACE

POSTMAN Pat jibes come thick and fast, but you can have the last laugh with a miserly yet capable diesel version of this van-based workhorse. Along with its Peugeot sister – the Partner Combi – it's pleasant to drive, cruises well and has two rear sliding side doors for easy access. The legendary power and refinement of the diesel engine is another attraction to tempt families, dog lovers or those who need something simple and roomy to suit a sporty lifestyle.

TRAIN AS A HOME INSPECTOR

Up to 2 million properties being sold every year now need Home Information Packs which must include an Energy Assessment carried out by thousands of newly trained Home Inspectors or Energy Assessors. Many of these new professionals will be needed later this year for the social sector when Government require around 1.8 million properties being let to also have Energy Assessments. Thousands more new Home Inspectors will also be needed if Government confirm Packs must include a currently optional Home Condition Report.

This creates new career opportunities and people are required now to train as Home Inspectors in their spare time. No previous surveying experience is required.

Current fee earning expectations are £200 to £250 per Energy Assessments and £200 to £300 for Home Condition Reports with up to 15 Assessments or 6 Reports estimated to be able to be carried out in a week, subject to size of properties and the number supplied.

Applicants should apply now for a limited number of training places at the Government's ASBE approved Home Inspector Training centres near London and in Bristol, Birmingham and Manchester. The Course mainly consists of 7 separately bookable one-week modules, taken over up to 10 months if this long is needed and most people can therefore train around their current commitments.

On qualifying you are awarded the Government's ASBE Home Inspector Diploma and are able to carry out Assessments and Reports obtained by yourself or for other Pack Providers or, depending on the market, share gained, for our own in-house Pack Provider in return for a course subsidy.

Once qualified, further short courses and qualification opportunities, now being researched, may also be available creating other possible income streams.

Get in the driving seat for hospice charity race

BIZLINX will host a charity event at Buckmore Park kart circuit on March 13 and is challenging businesses to take part.

Companies from Medway, Maidstone and Swale must put together a team of six racers, purchase a kart for £280 and pledge to raise £1,000 sponsorship.

The event aims to raise £30,000 for the Heart of Kent Hospice in Aylesford and Demelza House children's hospice in Bobbing.

Mums and dads fail to make most of vouchers

THOUSANDS of parents working for small businesses in Kent are missing out on financial help which could save them more than £1,000 a year.

Research by Childcare Choice showed that only one in 100 working parents employed by small or medium-sized enterprises have signed up for the Government's childcare vouchers.

Most mums and dads who pay for childcare are entitled to savings of up to £1,195 a year.

Car benefit changes fuel firms to rethink

BUSINESSES in the county offering company car and fuel benefits to staff need to urgently evaluate their current policy before April, according to a leading firm of chartered accountants.

The Pre-Budget Report shake-up of employee car fuel benefit will take effect from April 6, which could see some people's company car tax bill rise by nearly a quarter.

But wise employees should ensure sensible management of their tax allowance and experts can advise the best way to maximise benefits.

To avoid the tax increases bosses need to look at only providing company cars for part of the year and giving staff a mileage allowance for business travel instead of fuel benefits.

■ BY JON COATES

Richard Marshall, tax specialist at HW Chartered Accountants, said: "The car fuel benefit is set to increase considerably from April 6 this year and many workers will be clobbered with a hefty tax rise.

"With such large increases expected, employers need to sit down with staff now and determine whether they would be better off providing their own fuel and claiming a mileage allowance for business travel.

"In most circumstances, workers would be best off doing this as to make car fuel benefit financially efficient after April private mileage needs to be high – as much as 10,000 to 12,000 miles per year."

Car fuel benefit occurs when employers provide fuel cards, credit cards or vouchers to cover the total cost of private and business mileage.

And because each case is unique there is no blanket advice for everyone.

Mr Marshall added: "Working out car fuel benefit is complex and changes for individual employees due to differing levels of benefit.

"There are ways to help reduce an employee's car tax bill that we can advise on, such as only making a company car available for part of the year or only making fuel available for business travel."

For advice Richard Marshall can be contacted at HW chartered accountants, in Armstrong Road, Maidstone, on 01622 692255.

Medway to pitch in for the Olympics

Picture PHIL HOUGHTON

ON TARGET: Gillingham's Beechings Way training ground could host football and archery ahead of London 2012

THE prospect of world class athletes training in Medway before the 2012 Olympics drew a step closer this week as five of the area's sporting venues were identified as potential training camps.

The London Organising Committee for the Olympic and Paralympic Games (LOCOG) unveiled a list of 600 possible sites in the UK which could be used by athletes before London 2012.

In total 36 facilities in Kent were chosen, with only Canterbury getting more recommended sites than Medway.

The key venue will be Medway Park, which is undergoing an £11million refurbishment to develop a regional centre of sporting excellence.

OLYMPIC GAMES

It will be able to host 13 different events, from badminton and boxing to gymnastics and fencing.

Elsewhere Gillingham FC's facilities will be considered for football and archery, while the Jumpers Rebound Centre will be among the favourites to hold the world's best trampoline teams.

Howard Table Tennis Centre and Castlemaine Badminton Centre were also included in the shortlist.

They will be included in a guide distributed to all other Olympic associations at this summer's Beijing Olympics. From this the national teams will decide which facilities they want to train in to prepare for the London Games.

Steve Waud, manager of the Howard Table Tennis Centre, said: "The centre has gone from strength to strength since it opened in 2005, and to potentially have an Olympic team come here to train would be fantastic for us."

At the launch in Buckinghamshire, Sebastian Coe, chairman of LOCOG, said: "The facilities listed in this Guide will really help overseas athletes prepare well."

"It also provides a great opportunity for towns throughout the UK to get involved in our plans."

Medway closing in on promotion

MEDWAY RFC could secure back-to-back promotions if they can win their next league fixture, after they narrowly beat HSBC 11-9 at Priestfields on Saturday.

The visitors took the lead but Danny Williams scored the only try of the game to haul Medway in front.

The victory keeps Taff Gwilliam's side one point clear at the top of Kent 2 with two games remaining.

Medway can seal back-to-back promotions in their next league game later this month if they can beat Brockleians and nearest rivals Vigo lose.

The team's next game is against Orpington in the Kent Vase on March 15.

HOLCOMBE Ladies continued their sparkling season by reaching the Kent Cup final with a 4-0 win against Folkestone on Sunday.

Jennie Hoyte, Marlisse Joubert, Debbie Laing and Lauren Osborn all got on the score sheet as the hosts eased to a comfortable victory.

The win came a week after the team won the East Women's Hockey Premier League and kept alive hopes of a league and cup double.

In their first game since winning the title, Holcombe suffered a shock 4-3 defeat to Chelmsford on Saturday.

BAND OF BROTHERS: Leroy Griffiths believes socialising with each other away from training will help improve Gillingham's results in the final two months of the season

Team bonding to pull Gills through to safety

LEROY Griffiths believes the Gillingham squad are starting to build a strong bond which will help them escape relegation this season.

The 31-year-old is one of nine players signed on permanent deals by manager Mark Stimson since his arrival in November.

The former QPR striker told Yourmedway it has taken a long time for the squad to get to know each other, but believes they are finally striking up a rapport.

Relaxed

He said: "Everywhere you go in football there are cliques, players you are more comfortable with. But the team now is more relaxed as we start to get to know each other."

"We go out to dinner and do things much more as a team - if you can do that off the pitch you will be stronger on the pitch."

Griffiths has been mainly used as an impact substitute since his arrival three months ago, coming off the bench for the final 20 minutes if the side need a goal.

While he admits it has been a frustrating period personally, he is prepared to be patient.

He said: "You have got to go with the manager's decision, he knows when it's right to bring in players at the right time."

"So far, every time he has brought me on I have been able to do a job. Hopefully, I have done enough to show I am fit enough and able enough to continue what he saw in me at the beginning, and if I get a chance I'm going to take it."

Griffiths earned only his second start for the club in Saturday's goalless draw against Yeovil Town at Priestfield.

Stimson stuck with the 3-4-3 formation which overcame Huddersfield a week earlier. He opted to leave striker Simeon Jackson on the bench after four barren starts since his arrival in the January transfer window.

Griffiths and Delroy Facey were given starts and they combined well in a tight first half.

The hosts dominated after the break, but created few clear-cut chances to take the lead. The closest they came was in the 71st minute when Yeovil skipper Terry Skiverton diverted a John Nutter free-kick on to his own post.

The visitors played the final 15 minutes with ten men after Stephen Maher received a straight red card for a two-footed lunge on Simon King.

Gills flooded forward but could not find a way past and had to settle for a third goalless draw in four games in front of their home fans.

They had the chance to move three points clear of the bottom four when they took on rivals Brighton & Hove Albion last night.

Dynamos' double play-off disaster

FOOTBALL

BY YOUR MEDWAYREPORTER

THE Invicta Dynamos have made a disastrous start to their play-off campaign, losing both their opening games.

Saturday's trip to the unbeaten Peterborough Islanders was arguably the toughest possible opening fixture for the Mos, and with six players unavailable they crashed to a predictable 8-3 defeat.

The Islanders set the tone early on, smashing into Alex Shaw long after the puck had left his stick. They continued to hit the Mos hard and often, before finally taking the lead when Jesse Hammill flicked past Ian Rowlands in the fifth minute.

When Peterborough's Ross Mackintosh was called for a late hit the Mos took advantage, AJ Smith equalising, but Mackintosh restored the lead within seconds and even with two men off the field Peterborough extended their lead through Craig Britton.

The shell-shocked Mos were 5-1 down at the break, but despite conceding a sixth they looked a far better side in the second period, and two quick goals from AJ and Andy Smith around the half-hour mark kept them in the hunt.

However, with less than a minute to go in the period, Britton scored a psychologically damaging goal to make it 7-3 going into the final 20 minutes.

Andy Smith was twice thwarted by the Peterborough netminder in the closing stages, but the only goal of the last period went to the home side.

Invicta were still licking their wounds when they travelled to Streatham the following day and had few complaints about their 2-1 defeat.

Streatham's Jerry Paylus made it 1-0 after 23 minutes and though the Mos equalised on the powerplay when Peter Carey slotted in Elliot Andrews' neat drop pass, Shane Walsh scored the South London side's winner in the 45th minute.

SEVENTH HELL: Ian Rowlands had a torrid game at Peterborough, conceding seven goals before he was replaced by Glen Jackson for the final period.

Dominant Chats end losing streak

FOOTBALL

Chatham Town 1
Walton Casuals 0

A FIRST goal for Steve Hafner was enough to end Chatham Town's five-game winless run and significantly ease the club's relegation worries.

Played on a difficult Maidstone Road pitch, the Chats dominated the game and had chances to make the score line more emphatic.

Town boss Steve Binks was relieved to get a first win since January.

He told Yourmedway: "I'm absolutely delighted, it is a big three points for us. I think we thoroughly deserved the win and on another day we could have had two or three more goals."

"I didn't make any substitutes until injury time and that was because I couldn't fault the effort and desire from everybody. The pressure has been mounting a bit and it's important to pick up points at home."

Despite the testing surface, the Chats at times strung several passes together and they claimed the winning goal from one such move just before half-time.

After some precise interplay in midfield, the ball was played forward to Hafner down the left. The winger, who was only making his second appearance since joining the club, tried his luck from the edge of the box and saw his shot loop into the top corner.

In the second half, the hosts had a good shout for a penalty turned down when Rob Denness was felled in the box and Shane Suter had a chance ruled out for offside.

The win moved the Chats up to 15th, ten points clear of the bottom two ahead of Saturday's trip to Worthing.

Binks praised his whole team but singled out new signings Hafner and Denness.

He said: "As a partnership playing together for the first time,

USING HIS HEAD: Rob Denness is improving with every game as he regains match fitness

I was really pleased. Rob needs some matches under his belt because he hasn't played much football lately, but he worked his socks off and I can see only good things coming from those two."

OLD HEAD: Danny Cullip has helped shore up the Gills defence

New Gills ace happy to stay down South

GILLINGHAM'S newest signing, Danny Cullip, turned down offers from sides in the Championship to come and play at Priestfield.

The 31-year-old was released by QPR in November and after three months without a club joined Gills on non-contract terms last month.

Although he was keen to find a new club, the former Brighton defender turned down deals because he did not want to uproot his young family and move across the country.

He told Yourmedway: "I had a few clubs I could have gone to earlier but they were in the wrong areas for me."

"I had just moved my family back down from up north and I wasn't willing to go back again. I had offers but I was just waiting for the right one to come – there were a couple of Championship clubs and another couple from League One."

Cullip was recommended to Gills boss Mark Stimson by QPR and he spent time in January training with the squad. After seeing the set-up at the club the experienced centre-back was keen to join.

He said: "It was somewhere I wanted to come to, I have got friends who have played here, I know people who are here now and when I spoke to them they said good things about the place."

Despite spending nearly five months out of competitive football, Cullip did not look off the pace as he marshalled the defence to clean sheets in his first two games for the club.

After a long career peppered with promotion and relegation, he could be of vital importance to keeping Gills out of trouble in League One.

He said: "We are in a relegation fight at the moment. At these sorts of times it is important everyone sticks together."

"We have eight games in March and hopefully they will shape our season. However we get the results, you have got to have the fight from the beginning."

"The boys have got to win the battle, whether it takes ten minutes or 90."
